

Abstract of the Disclosure

When transmitting a broadcasting E-mail, a sender designates a transmission destination of an emphasized part for each item. A mail server automatically emphasizes and highlights the items corresponded by the E-mail for each designated transmission destination of the emphasized part to be distributed. Further, the mail server can emphasize and highlight the keyword for each receiver included in the E-mail to be transmitted to each receiver.

2025-03-10 10:20:00